

INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATE PROGRAM GIVING LEVELS

Your contribution to Indiana Prison Writing Workshop's individual and corporate giving program helps maintain its sustainability of programming by providing offenders with continuous writing instruction and tools to complete a 12-session workshop as well as help offenders with successful re-entry back into society. When you become a supporter, you are more than a donor. You are a partner. A partner in our shared work to return justice-involved individuals to self-sufficiency after they've serving a prison sentence and worked towards rehabilitation but currently recidivism is still high in the United States, at 67.5%.

Indiana Prison Writers Workshop provides a safe space for personal reflection and growth for those who have faced challenges like addiction, trauma, and other hurdles, to prepare them to come out and be better equipped to succeed because of improved writing and communications. Research shows inmates who engage in education programs, like writing, can gain employment in desirable jobs or pursue additional higher education opportunities after release (Pompoco et al., 2017).

Indiana Prison Writers Workshop created the individual and corporate giving program to steward special partnerships with people like you who want to help and want to be champions in this shared work of successful re-entry.

$10,000 - RE-ENTRY CHAMPION

- Launches a new writing program at an Indiana correctional facility.
- Curriculum development and delivery to inmates by mail which broadens the scope of our work across the country.
- Provides recognition materials to one dedicated writer annually recognizing the late Daniel J. Byrd for his contributions to writing in his participation in the initial creative writing class with a (engraved journal and pen) Daniel J. Byrd Award.
- Launches quarterly alumni meetings with ex-offenders and instructors.
- Creation of a quarterly alumni publication named after you or your company.
- Provides transportation gas card stipend to program facilitators.
- Provides marketing collateral (brochures, flyers, signage, tablecloth).
- Provides classroom materials (notebooks, pens, books, journals).
- Provides the opportunity for one annual event (show or reading) of offenders. This affords Indiana Prison Writers Workshop the opportunity to collaborate with other groups and not-for-profits.
